About the Art Show: It's Not Black & White

In conjunction with the six-week run of ART, winner of the 1998 Tony Award for Best Play, the It's Not Black & White juried art show is unlike any other! It is art supporting the arts and posing the question, "What IS art, anyway?"

The art show will be on display in the Playhouse lobby from September 10 through October 24, 2010. The lobby is open to the public on Fridays and Saturdays from 6:30-10 p.m., Sundays from 5-9 p.m.

About the Play: ART

Written by Yasmina Reza · Translated by Christopher Hampton · Directed by Richard H. Pegg
Starring Josh Hartwell, Chris Kendall, and Jim Hunt

How much would you pay for a white painting? Serge has just bought a very expensive all-white painting with white diagonal lines. To Marc, the painting is a joke. Yvan, though burdened by his own problems, allows himself to be pulled into this disagreement. As their arguments become less theoretical and more personal, they border on destroying their friendships. At the breaking point, Serge hands Marc a felt tip pen and dares him: "Go on." Don't miss this brightly creative showdown between three men ready to put it all on the 'line'.

The play runs at the Miners Alley Playhouse from September 10 through October 24, 2010. Show times are Fridays and Saturdays at 7:30 p.m., Sundays at 6 p.m. (Oct. 24th at 2 p.m.)

This play contains mature themes and language.
